FOREWORD

This is the nineteenth annual report of the Ontario Ministry of Labour on collective bargaining agreement expirations. It describes the extent of collective bargaining activity in Ontario for renewal of agreements scheduled to expire in 1986.

The data in this report are derived from information available in the Ministry's Collective Agreements Library as of December 20, 1985, and identify all 1986 bargaining situations known to the Ministry at that date. They do not include situations that will result from recent and future certifications by the Ontario Labour Relations Board, and new agreements that were not yet signed when the data were completed.

The report consists of four tables. Part A of Table 1 shows the total number of all agreements expiring by industry and month of expiration; and Part B shows the number of employees who will be affected. Table 2 gives a distribution of the total expirations by industry and size of bargaining unit. Table 3 lists only those agreements covering 200 or more employees by month of expiration; and Table 4 lists them by industry.

Appendix 1 lists the major agreements (those covering 1,000 or more employees) expiring in 1986. Appendix 2 explains the SIC (Standard Industrial Classification), union and bargaining unit codes used in Tables 3 and 4.

The report was prepared in the Research and Analysis Unit, Industrial Relations Division, Ontario Ministry of Labour.

ONTARIO COLLECTIVE BARGAINING AGREEMENT EXPIRATIONS, 1986

Introduction

Collective bargaining activities will be heavy in Ontario in 1986. About 2,867 agreements, covering 487,859 employees, are scheduled to expire during the year, compared with 2,566 covering 396,129 employees in 1985. (See Tables 1A and 1B).

The 1986 expirations account for 33 percent of the 8,793 agreements on file in the Ministry of Labour's Collective Agreements Library as of December 20, 1985, and affect 36 percent of the 1,364,950 employees covered by the total file of agreements.

Key industries in which negotiations will take place in 1986 include meat packing, rubber, clothing, printing, can, auto parts, aerospace, electrical products, construction, retail food stores, education, health and welfare, local government, and automobile at American Motors. The major agreements involved are listed in Appendix 1.

Economic Setting

Current forecasts suggest that negotiations in 1986 will take place in a much stronger economic environment than in 1985. Improvements continued in several areas of the economy in 1985, marking the third year of growth from the 1981-82 recession. Plant capacity utilization increased steadily to 78.3 percent in the third quarter of 1985, the highest rate since the fourth quarter of 1981. The Consumer Price Index, at an annual rate of 4.0 percent in November, has remained relatively stable since June 1984. In Ontario, employment increased 3.7 percent in November over January's level; and the unemployment rate dropped to 7.4 percent, the lowest rate since December 1981.

Slow economic recovery, concerns over job security and low inflation helped to moderate wage settlements in 1984 and 1985. Stronger growth in 1986 may cause union negotiators to shift their attention to improvements in wages and benefits.

Monthly Activity

The bulk of next year's expirations will occur in March, April, June, August and December. These months account for 64 percent of the agreements and 75 percent of the covered employees. In terms of agreements, March will be the heaviest month, with 597 expirations covering 53,099 employees. In terms of employees, April will be the busiest month, with 124,986 employees covered by 283 agreements. July will be the lightest month both for agreements and employees, with 98 expirations covering 10,023 employees.

Industry Activity

Non-manufacturing industries account for 62 percent of next year's expirations and 71 percent of the employees affected. Bargaining activities in this sector will be concentrated for agreements or employees in construction, transportation, trade, education, health and welfare and local government. Expirations in the manufacturing sector are concentrated for agreements or employees in food and beverages, fabricated metals, non-metal mineral products, transportation equipment, and electrical products.
